EASTERN DATES TO MARCH 26.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—In the Senate a number of bills from the Committee on Commerce were considered and passed including the following: A bill to extend customs and navigation laws over Alaska and adjacent waters and islands acquired by the United States. A bill to amend the Act to regulate the consular and diplomatic system of the United States. A bill increasing the salaries of various consulates including London, Paris and Havana. A bill to amend the Act for the protection of American citizens who discover deposits of guano. A bill authorizing a mail steamship service between New Orleans and certain Mexican ports.

The bill to facilitate commerce with China, Japan and other countries in Asia was taken up. Pending its consideration the Senate went into executive session and adjourned.

In the House, on the motion of Hawley the rules were suspended and the Senate bill to enable honorably discharged soldiers their widows and minor children, to secure homesteads on public lands was brought up and passed.

Tyner, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, reported a joint resolution providing for a colossal statue of the late Admiral Farragut to be erected in Farragut Square, Washington. It instructs the Senate and House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to inspect all models that may be presented to them within sixty days and select therefrom one of the most appropriate to commemorate the deeds and character of Admiral Farragut and it instructs the Secretary of the Treasury to contract for such statue at a cost not exceeding $20,000. After remarks in favor of the joint resolution by Tyner, Cox, Starkweather and Garfield, on motion of Garfield it was amended so as to extend the time for selection of the model to January 1, 1873.

The bill for the protection of life and property on board steamships was made the special order for Thursday next.

A bill was introduced by Ramsey to construct and aid in rebuilding levees on the Mississippi river, and in favor of the Levee & Telegraph Company, with a capital of $10,000 000, to construct levees and a line of telegraph from Cape Girardeau, Missouri to Fort Jackson, Louisiana, on both sides of the river, free from State taxation, with a land grant of twenty five sections per mile along the line of said levees.

In the United States Senate Morrill reported a resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to inquire into the necessity for a marine hospital at San Francisco, and if the public service requires it, to ascertain whether St. Mary's College and grounds would be suitable for the purpose, and if so, on what terms they can be purchased, and to report at the next session of Congress. Laid over. The resolution is a substitute for a bill for the erection of a marine hospital at San Francisco.

Go On!

The Industrial Republic an industrial journal published at Pittsburg has the following:

We want to say a word to those working men who sign petitions to Congress advocating protection to our industries, and then go to the polls and elect men to Congress who are pledged to fight against protection. You are fools and hypocrites. What would you think of a man who found a robber in his house in the night and chased him out, and went to bed again leaving windows and doors open? What would you think of a man who built a house and then hired a man to burn it down? What would you think of a man who flung his week's wages into the river as he walked home? What would you think of a man who gave his horse a feed of oats and then crept back and stole them from him? Yet these workingmen who sign petitions for protection and elect men to vote for free trade are doing far worse than this. We have letters from workingmen at different places, telling us of men who are doing this. One from Bethlehem states, "we have plenty of men who run to sign a petition to Congress in favor of protection, but when election day comes they will all vote for J. B. Storms." Go on, then, working men of Bethlehem, and vote for your J. B. Storms, and there will soon be storms of free trade which will shut down your mill, throw you out of work, fill the country with free trade goods you have not the money to buy, and send your landlord on you with execution for rent you can not pay, and you are turned into the street houseless, homeless friendless. Go on, and vote for your J. B. Storms, and there will be storms very shortly you will never forget. You will stand idly in your cheerless home where wife and children have scarcely anything to eat, your mill once roaring with industry and joy, is now idle and dead before you, your coal mines are deserted, nobody wants coal no one can pay for it.

Go on and vote for your J. B. Storms and the storms of starvation, idleness and misery will surround you and your families with deserved retribution. Go on, and you will learn what it is to vote for men who are pledged to vote your mills closed, your mines closed your shops closed yourselves into idleness. Go on, and you will learn what it is to vote for men who will vote corn meal and soup for your table instead of roast beef and potatoes. Go on and you will find a storm will come that will blow your mill to atoms, and you will find owls roosting by daylight in your deserted stacks and crows and buzzards and bats and rats usurping your place in what remains of your former workshops. Go on.

Senator Sumner.

The Illinois Staats Zeitung, the leading German paper of that State, thus pays its respects to Senator Sumner:

As for Senator Sumner, he was at the time an ardent admirer of such French Republicans as Gambetta, Victor Hugo, etc. As Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, it was his duty to be concerned about the traffic in arms, and to protest against it. He did not do this but he did something else. He traveled through the country getting off tremendous harangues, glorifying the French humbug Republic, denouncing the continuation of the war on the part of the Germans after the capture of Louis Napoleon, as brutal, barbarous, blood thirsty and vindictive, and assured the French "sister Republic" of the most active sympathy of the "noble minded American people." In other words, he who, owing to his official position, should have been a most jealous guardian of the strict neutrality of the United States, did all in his power to induce the American people to look upon the sale of arms to France as a very meritorious and praiseworthy act. And like the genuine Yankee that he is, he took his pay for it. Mr. Sumner pocketed about $200 000 for raising at the blood thirsty German barbarians and sounding the praises of the noble Frenchmen. But now after the lapse of better than a year, and after the German Government has found no cause of complaint against the United States on account of this matter, this same Sumner suddenly finds himself, and to prefer charges against his own Government where Bismarck could find no reason for so doing. And he does this too at a time when by that act he gives his own country an controversy with England a most grievous blow. As Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs he never spoke a word nor raised a finger to prevent his friends the Republican French from obtaining arms to be used against the "blood thirsty and vindictive Germans." But fifteen months after the event he opens his mouth and calls out to the English: Don't be such fools as to yield on the Alabama question. The United States have done just as bad as you.

Nominate a man for the Presidency if you want to know all about him—and sometimes a great deal besides. The Washington Star claims to be a labor organ. Therefore the way it handles Judge Davis the labor candidate is interesting. Here is a sample. If you want to know where his millions came from ask the poor farmer of Illinois whom the panic of 1857 found in debt and distress, uncertain how the necessities of the poor of that time were the opportunities of Judge David Davis and how the title deeds to his large estate were signed in suffering and sealed in sorrow. He was one of the few a knowledge of whom would have enabled Shakespeare to give us an Anglo Saxon Shylock" and deprived the tribe of Israel of dramatic immorality. In all he did, he doubtless did no wrong; we have never heard his personal honor impeached or his private character brought into question. He simply hung out three golden balls when times were hard and money scarce and when tired of pawnbroking he took down his sign and retired from business to contemplate those changing scenes of this wicked world which had made him rich and others poor. According to this Judge Davis will not make a lovely labor candidate.

The forthcoming census will contain some very interesting statistics in relation to the newspapers and periodicals published in the United States. From an advance paper on the subject we learn that the total number of newspapers and periodicals is 5 816 which are divided as follows: Daily 574 tri weekly, 107 semi weekly 115 weekly 4 270 semi monthly 96 monthly 621 bi monthly, 13 and quarterly 49. Of this immense number 79 are merely advertising sheets published solely for advertising purposes which leaves 5 776 newspapers and periodicals in the country—an average of one to every 6 000 of the population.

The Overland for April has an article entitled "A Ride through Oregon" which is said to be from the pen of Joaquin Miller. It is a readable sketch.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN STATES.

Erie Railroad Matters—New York News.

NEW YORK, March 26.—The rise in Erie was the sensation of to-day and yesterday. No such excitement has been witnessed before on Wall street for many years. Many instances are reported of negotiators in stock having made immense sums. The opening price was $30, and it rapidly advanced in the morning, and under the stimulus of orders to buy by telegraph, from Europe the price had yesterday reached 58 at the close. The World editorially says Jay Gould alone netted a profit of $5,250,000, and asserts that if less than that yesterday, profits was but a feature of a great plot of the Erie Stickler' combination to make colossal fortunes.

Second Dispatch.—The excitement in Erie was renewed this morning. Transactions have been enormous, probably aggregating one hundred thousand shares. The advance is due to transactions of London buyers.

It is stated that the Judiciary Committee are in possession of an exhibit of the Banking account of Judge Cardozo, showing at various times drafts made by Gratz & Nathan to Cardozo as receiver, and corresponding deposits of amounts by the Judge. The total of the trust sources reaches about $22,000.

The Brooklyn Reform Committee propose to take legal measures to eject incumbents from offices to which they were fraudulently elected last November.

A committee of the Georgia Legislature arrived here yesterday to take testimony in reference to the conduct of suspended Governor Bullock. The investigation will include the Governor's financial transactions with the State. The proceedings will be conducted in private.

The Board of Health has commenced the test cases, the accused being one Dr. Merlin, to compel employment of physicians who do not report small pox cases.

At the carnival ball of Tammany yesterday, many ladies recorded themselves as adherents of Tammany.

Chicago News.

CHICAGO, March 26.—A Sackville, N. B., dispatch of yesterday says the blockade was raised on Saturday, and that the trains have commenced running.

There was another severe snow storm yesterday, and the roads are again all blocked. It will probably be the end of the week before trains can run, and in the meantime mails are conveyed by stage.

At Winchester, Ill., on Sunday last, Talbot Claywell, a saloon keeper, was shot dead by a man with whom he had refused to drink because he had already drunk.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Miscellaneous and Congressional News.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The bill for the admission of the State of Deseret was not presented in the House to-day. The official returns of the recent Territorial election upon the adoption of a Constitution are not received. The Salt Lake delegations in this city, Mormon and Gentile, are steadily enlarging. The interest of both sides in the decision of the Supreme Court upon the validity of the McKean polygamy writs, which is expected next Monday without fail, is intense.

William H. Huntington, cashier of the First National Bank of Washington, died this morning of pneumonia.

In the House the bill authorizing a site for the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad, on Sixth street between Pennsylvania avenue and Canal street, came up as unfinished business. A good deal of excitement prevailed over the bill between the Pennsylvania Central and Ohio companies, the latter having long to abate in the assumptions and to have the site granted for a second railroad depot. A substitute, giving the Baltimore & Potomac the right of way on the Mobile Hill, Mercer property, and the Pennsylvania Central the right on the bill, for the use of the same to the United States Court, which was objected to, and the bill tabled, resumed.

In the Senate the bill was passed granting right of way to the Mobile Grand Trunk Railway.

Morrill of Vermont offered a resolution to repeal a large number of internal revenue taxes.

Morton objected, and the resolution was withdrawn.

The Tariff bill was taken up, but on motion of Scott it was informally laid aside, and the House bill to repeal the duty on tea and coffee was taken up. Scott moved to have the law take effect on the 1st of July next.

Trumbull moved to have salt placed on the free list.

Sherman asked that the vote to be taken separately on tea and coffee.

Trumbull's motion was declined, and a debate ensued.

MEXICO.

Overthrow of the Insurgents.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A special dispatch from Matamoras says that the defeat of the rebels is more complete and disastrous than hitherto known. Trevino and Martinez (revolutionists) quarreled a month ago, and since then have not co-operated with each other. The revolutionists are generally demoralized, and it is expected that they will evacuate Camargo and the whole border very soon. Revolt is partially now existing on Matamoras, where he will attempt to capture Diaz. Arms are said to have been accumulated there by the revolutionists. General Zenfeda defeated the rebel cavalry on the 12th, near Charco. A rising in Montule, headed by Revoy and Vera, has also been crushed, and Vera himself killed.

MADRID, March 26.—The report that the Spanish frigates Zaragoza and Arapiles are ordered to Venezuela, to demand satisfaction for an insult to the Spanish Consul, is unfounded. The vessels are ordered to Havana.

What is Free Trade.

[From the Working People, Pittsburg.]

If free trade fills our markets, the consequent unemployed labor, if paid for, would buy what would keep us under protection. Admitted that free trade may make cheapness it likewise makes idleness, brings with it inability to buy, creates a wider field of unsatisfied wants which were satisfied under protection. We compensate by enforced abstention for the supposed benefits of cheapness. To not buy a thing because we cannot is not saving the cost of it. This is free trade. The total volume of price paid is constant and consists of two elements viz: cheapness and abstention. If we limit by legislation our power to earn, by leaving it to others to supply our wants as free trade proposes and thus limit our power to buy a portion only of industrial products we still pay the full price for this limited supply in this way viz: by going without them. Now this is as much paying for a thing as paying in actual labor or money. We pay in abstention in the exact proportion we limit our power to buy. A man may go without his dinner but this is not to be taken as saving the cost of it. He must first earn the price of it, but if he deprives himself of the chance by giving his work to his neighbor and then is forced to go without it he has no right to boast that he is saving the price of it. This is free trade.

Free trade says we can buy cheaper—but it shows us no way to pay for what we buy.

Labor is a man's standing capital if free trade prevents him from off

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 27

Shams Exploded

It is astonishing how brilliant and utterly futile attempts to ridicule a political canvass of things that have nothing whatever to do with it the Herald proceeds to say

But there is no better question we should like to ask before going further Did the railroad king construct the Willamet river to " Did his enterprise construct the great Columbia" Has he got a vested right to prescribe such rates for transportation as he may deem proper on those rivers" That is precisely what he is aiming to do nay, is now doing His mighty capital enables him to purchase up all the steamboats that ply upon these waters, and then he refuses to take the farmers' products on board his steamboats unless their freight pays tribute to his warehouse in Portland and to his steamships hence to San Francisco

Observe how easily and completely a little common sense will eliminate all this irrelevant stuff from a political campaign Suppose the allegations to be true what have they to do with politics or with any party" Has not one steamboat company for years owned all the boats on the great Columbia" " and has not that company prescribed and does it not still prescribe such rates for transportation as it deems proper" " Has not another company for years owned and run all the boats on the Willamet prescribing its own rates of transportation" Who has thought of regulating these rates by legislation? The rivers are free highways Any man can run his boat on them, and can carry at such rates " as he may deem proper " Is it a wrong or a crime that one company has ' purchased up " all the boats on the Columbia and that another company has ' purchased up " all on the Wallamet? If it is, just what are you going to do about it ' Do you pretend that a Democratic Legislature will make it unlawful for the O S N Co to " purchase up " boats on one river, and for the W T Co to ' purchase up " boats on the other? That, absurd as it is, is what your language means, if it means anything. You pretend that the Democratic party will provide such legislation as will take the transportation of the country out of the hands of the capitalists who control it, prevent those capitalists from buying up the steamboats on our rivers, and compel them to run boats on our rivers and ships between here and San Francisco on such terms as the Legislature may prescribe. Can anything equal such preposterous nonsense? On what free waters of the United States are rates of transportation regulated or restricted by legislation?

Suppose you carry the election and get the Legislature what can your Legislature do to change the existing condition of things as regards transportation? Nothing whatever Owners of transportation lines can if they please snap their fingers in the face of your Legislature, and ask them what they are going to do about it. Your harangues are shams, clap-traps, pretenses. Sensible people all know it. They are fully aware of the absurdity of the humbugs you set up They know that a Democratic Legislature will not do what you propose, because no Legislature can do it Furthermore, they know that you make these ridiculous appeals merely for party effect, and that you are yourselves perfectly aware that they are empty and nonsensical Hence it is that they know that this cant and clamor can have nothing to do with the real questions and issues of a political canvass In no particular whatever will the present condition of things as regards transportation be changed by the result of the election, no matter which party succeeds. The Herald knows this well enough. It is not so unintelligent as it may seem But it is willing to resort to tricks, fetches and subterfuges, in the hope to win.

Were it not that there has been an attempt to drag this subject into party politics we should be ashamed to so overload with demonstration of its absurdity a matter which at any other time than in the exigencies of a political campaign even the Herald would be ashamed to state But there are times when it is necessary to meet such arguments and such champions as the opposition vouchsafe to us. An attempt has been made to create the false impression that there is a combination between the Republican party and a 'railroad king and monopolist" to oppress and plunder the State In showing the falsity of this assertion we have had to explode the fabric of absurdity on which it is built. The Herald has only itself to blame if it finds that it has become an object of the jeers and derision of the people of Oregon We are not defending any transportation "king" or company. None of them are anything to us. They sometimes charge us for transportation more than we like to pay, and so we often pay more for other things than we would prefer to But we were never silly enough to try to connect these matters with party politics, or to suppose that one party or the other could regulate the price of commodities by legislation You may just as well undertake to fix by law the price which the farmer shall take for his wheat or the merchant for his goods as to prescribe the rates which carriers shall receive for transporting them on public and free highways, as rivers, or on artificial routes as railroads, unless the franchises of the latter are granted on express condition that the legislative authority shall retain this power over them, and this is not a condition of any railroad franchise in Oregon

'Possum Hash

It is observed by the Pittsburg Commercial that the political cooks who propose during the ensuing political campaign to chop up the odds and ends of all political parties, living or dead, and to serve up the curious mixture under the taking title of possum hash, appear to meet with but scant encouragement from those on whom they reckoned as their boarders For instance voices come from many States including Alabama declaring in the most emphatic and unequivocal manner that these people deceive themselves and impose upon the public in claiming to know how to keep a hotel and that so far as the Democracy of those States are concerned they have not the slightest stomach for the new fangled dish about which so much pother has been made If they are to be guests of the feast, it must consist of a regular old fashioned barbecue, with the standard Democratic solids and fluids ad libitum, else will they preserve their hunger and their dignity by turning their backs upon the whole concern The Montgomery Advertiser publishes a list of between thirty and forty Democratic newspapers of Alabama which have pronounced squarely against the coalitions and combinations, of whatever shade or stripe and declared that a straight out Democratic ticket shall be nominated at the Democratic National Convention The same journal which further states that the list comprises [illegible] of the press of the State known to [illegible] and adds more to that list [illegible] States [illegible] to [illegible] agreement to any Hancock Bingham with any party is not less determined and sincere The Democracy of the Southern States propose to fight under their own flag with their own leaders and unless this demand is conceded there will probably be a rumpus in their own camp It is to be noted too that the few journals of that section which did advocate this temporary abandonment of a distinct Democratic policy are very faint hearted in the prosecution of their task which they seem to pursue as languidly as though they had been hired to do a piece of extremely distasteful work and were exceedingly doubtful whether they should ever get their pay But the possum business will be forced on them nevertheless The Southern Democracy and the Oregon Democracy will be compelled to eat crow even if they don't hanker after it

Bismarck on Our Dispute With England

On the 13th of February the German Premier Bismarck, had a long conversation on political affairs with one of the representatives of the city of Hamburg in the German Parliament an account of which was published in the Kielen Gazette In the course of this conversation the Chancellor of the German Empire alluded to the controversy between England and the United States in regard to the Treaty of Washington The deputy from Hamburg asked the Prince if war was likely to result from the difficulty between the two governments The reply was

Oh, no never fear there will be no war I have necessarily been obliged to devote much attention to the subject and I have no hesitation in saying now that England is again clearly in the wrong as it was during the American war, from which these claims of the United States have arisen It seems to me all nations have an interest in putting down such practices as those for which the United States demand an indemnity Eight or ten years ago I made no secret of my conviction that the English Government would eventually have to pay very dearly for its singular conduct during the American war and, I believe, I repeatedly communicated my views on the subject to Mr Wright, the American Minister, as well as to the representative of the English Government And when I read the text of the Treaty of Washington, I thought that England would have to pay a very heavy bill, but that, nevertheless, she would be thankful to extricate herself even at such a price from an exceedingly unpleasant not to say dangerous predicament

The deputy then called Bismarck's attention to the angry and defiant tone of the British press, when the Chancellor went on to say

It is surely far better for a power that has plenty of money at its command to make pecuniary sacrifices, be they ever so heavy, than to plunge for a manifestly unjust cause into a long, a doubtful, a terrible war. I am sure that this opinion will prevail in the long run in England, and that the threats of hostilities will speedily die away I have no direct information as to the intentions of the Washington Cabinet but, to my mind the case is so clear that one cannot have much difficulty in guessing the policy which it will adopt Therefore I believe I can assure your merchants at Hamburg that there is no cause for apprehending more serious complications

The Provincial Correspondenz, Bismarck's special organ, a few days after this correspondence had taken place, contained the following significant paragraph on the same subject

Apprehensions have been manifested in the last few years at some of the commercial centers of the German Empire in consequence of the complications that have arisen between England and the United States owing to the interpretation of the Treaty of Washington The German press has had so much to say about the injustice of the English view of the question that we need not say anything on the subject, except that we consider that English view utterly untenable, and, because it is unmaintainable and untenable, we think it is a foregone conclusion that the English Government will not persist in it

Talk about surrendering to a monopoly! Who was it two years ago that opposed certain measures which they denounced as those of a monopolist, and within three months afterward surrendered to the monopolist by accepting those very measures by a unanimous vote of their party in the Legislature? It was an unconditional surrender, the like of which has never been witnessed in Oregon The party that thus struck its colors and went back from its record now has the sublime impudence to accuse other people of "subservience to a monopoly " Our Democratic brethren doubtless have many virtues, But truth and consistency are not among them

If this question of freights and fares is so important as the Democratic organ pretends, why didn't the last Democratic Legislature see to it? The necessity was precisely the same as now The reason is that the idea of legislation on the subject is nonsense and humbug, and the last Legislature let it alone just as the next one will

An Eccentric Woman

[Correspondent of the Boston Advertiser]

The heirs of Miss Betsey Williams, a very eccentric lady a lineal descendant of Roger Williams, who died recently in Providence Rhode Island, and left the greater portion of her property, consisting of a large farm valued at $1,750 00 to the city authorities, are about to enter a suit for its recovery in the courts, on the ground that she was of unsound mind when the will was drawn The farm is situated partly in Providence and partly in Cranston, and covers over 100 acres It is willed to the city on condition that it shall never be used for any special purpose, or as a place for the transaction of any repulsive business that it shall bear the name of Roger Williams forever, and that the city shall erect a monument to Roger Williams in the Williams burying ground, and keep the place in proper order One of her eccentricities is said to have been a queer religious belief Every morning, after breakfast, it was her custom to have three inverted cups placed on a quaintly constructed altar which she called the Trinity of the Holy Tea Leaves and these she solemnly worshiped for an hour She was a monomaniac so her suing relatives also say on the subject of cleanliness—would there were more such monomaniacs—and made visitors remove their shoes in the hall before entering her immediate presence and being profoundly impressed with the belief that Roger Williams and Geo Washington were the greatest men that ever lived she required every one who came into her house to honor their memories by reverently bowing and refraining from sitting in the presence of their portraits, which hung in conspicuous places on the walls Then she was penurious Though rich she lived on the plainest and scantiest dishes and she never wrote to any of her relatives because she was convinced that the use of paper, envelopes and postage stamps would certainly ruin her She was nevertheless an attractive old lady who had her own ideas of life and lived in accordance with them The case is expected to appear in court very soon and it will no doubt be one of the most interesting of the curious kind

A Senator's Experience

THE CONTRASTS OF A LIFE

In a recent speech at Great Falls N H Senator Henry Wilson referring to some experiences in his early life, said I feel that I have the right to speak for toiling men and to toiling men I was born here in your county of Stafford I was born in poverty, want sat by my cradle I know what it is to ask a mother for bread when she has none to give I left my home at ten years of age and served an apprenticeship of eleven years, receiving a month s schooling each year, and at the end of eleven years of hard work, a yoke of oxen and six sheep, which brought me $84. A dollar would cover every penny I spent from the time I was born until I was twenty one years of age I know what it is to travel weary miles and ask my fellow men to give me leave to toil I remember that in September, 1833, I walked into your village from my native town, and went through your mills, seeking employment If anybody had offered me $8 or $9 a month, I should have accepted it gladly I went down to Salmon Falls, I went to Dover I went to Newmarket, and tried to get work, without success, and I returned home weary but not discouraged and I put my pack on my back and walked to the town where I now live and learned a mechanic s trade I know the hard lot that toiling men have to endure in this world, and every pulsation of my heart every conviction of my judgment, puts me on the side of the toiling men of my country—aye of all countries

I am glad the workingmen in Europe are getting discontented and want better wages, I thank God that a man in the United States to day can earn from three to four dollars in ten hours work easier than he could forty years ago earn one dollar, working from twelve to fifteen hours The first month I worked after I was twenty one years of age, I went into the woods drove team cut mill logs wood rose in the morning before daylight and worked hard until after dark at night and I received for it the magnificent sum of six dollars' And when I got the money those dollars looked as large to me as the moon looked to night On the farm on which I served my apprenticeship I have seen the best men who ever put a scythe to grass working for from fifty cents to four shillings a day, in the longest days of summer. Yesterday I visited that farm I asked the men who were there what they paid men in haying time last year and they said, from $2 to $2 50 a day This was paid on the same ground where men worked forty years ago for from fifty cents to four shillings, and took their pay in farm products, not money I have seen some of the brightest women go into the farm houses and work for from fifty cents to four shillings a week, milking the cows making butter and cheese washing spinning and weaving doing all kinds of hard work I was told yesterday that many young women were earning in the shops $1 a day, and that those who worked in houses were getting from $2 50 to $3 50 a week

To-day the laboring men and women of our country are earning from three to four times as much in a day as they could forty years ago and a day s work is shorter now than it was then After I had learned a trade in the place where I lived I worked fourteen and fifteen hours a day month after month to earn about $40 a month There are hundreds of men there now who in ten hours can earn a hundred dollars more easily than I could earn forty in fifteen hours I am grateful to God that it is so I do not care anything about a few men or corporations piling up a great amount of money I believe God meant this world to grow good men and women and not to pile up money That is my belief, and I want to see the men and women who bear the burdens and do the work have a full share of all they earn and that an honest day s work shall always have a fair day s pay

The Yellowstone Park

[From the Sacramento Union]

From the Department of the Interior will its approbation comes to us a map and plan of a national park to be set apart as a Government reservation The location is on the headwaters of the Yellowstone river between the 44th and 45th parallels of north latitude and 110 and 111 degrees 10 minutes longitude west from Greenwich The area of the proposed park is 10 by 33½ miles, embracing 1 333 square miles and a fraction or about 853 acres In the southeast corner of this parallelogram comes in (running almost due north) the Yellowstone river After a flow of ten miles the river enters Yellowstone Lake of an irregular shape long to affect miles in extreme length and width Near the center of the park the river debouches from the lake and after traversing for a few miles the hot springs region tumbles over the Upper Falls and enters the Great Canyon six miles long, Coming out of this canyon it receives a number of small tributary streams from the east and west, and passes through another region of hot springs The southern part of the park is partly watered by the head of Snake river flowing south west and with Clark s Fork forming the Columbia river About ten miles from the southwest corner of the park is Madison Lake an all body of water two miles long, by one wide This Lake is the source of Madison s Fork of the Missouri which flows northward as it westward watering with many tributaries a large part of the west center of the park The left hand or Madison s Fork and its [illegible] the center of the Park spreading around the great flat of Yellowstone Lake and the hot springs It is a most picturesque region embracing [illegible] of the grandest and some of the most beautiful scenery of the continent with falls rivers mountains and valleys all in harmonious proportion and nothing wanting to [illegible]

A REMARKABLE CURE OF PALSY

WM BURDEN, A STOCK RAISER OF WILLOW CREEK, WASCO COUNTY OREGON LOST THE USE OF HIS LEFT ARM BY PALSY WAS CURED BY THE REMEDIES OF DR. ARNOLD OVER TWO THIRD AND MORRISON STREETS, PORTLAND

To the Afflicted.—I wish to state that I lost the use of my left arm from my shoulder to the end of my fingers by a stroke of palsy I could not raise my hand or arm from my side and was fully of the impression that there was no cure for me. My friends at the Dalles advised me to visit Portland and place myself under the care of Dr Arnold Arrived in Portland last evening by the Regulator, and [illegible] called at Dr A's office and made my case known The Doctor commenced treatment at once and in ten minutes time to my great surprise and joy, he pronounced a complete cure, so that I now have the use of my arm hand and fingers and can raise my arm up over my head with as much ease as I can raise my right arm This certainly is a very remarkable cure and is my self-action speaks volumes to the skill of Dr Arnold I am stopping at the American Exchange Hotel and will leave on the first boat for home I am a stock raiser and reside at Willow Creek Wasco county Oregon, eighty miles south of the Dalles

English Subsidies

The Boston [illegible] Journal of Commerce of the 13th January says

Senator Cole of California in the report of the Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads made last Thursday in favor of an increase of the subsidy to the Chinese line gave a detailed account of the subsidies paid by the British Government to the several steamship lines The information is quite interesting and we tabulate it as follows

Cunard line	$3,000,000
Inman [illegible]	1,700,000
Halifax [illegible]	1,000,000
R S P Co Southampton to Brazil	727,560
R M S P Co to West Indies Vera Cruz etc	566,000
Panama and Peninsular	911,500
West India Mail service	200,000
To Alexandria Suez and India	2,850,000
To Cape of Good Hope and Sydney	650,000
Total	$10,605,060

In addition to these subsidies, the British Government pays four other companies the postage on all the matter they carry at the rate of sixty cents an ounce on letters six cents a pound on newspapers, and ten cents a pound on books which certainly ought to be a fair rate for freight Mr Cole's total is slightly different from ours which is the consequence of his reckoning the pound sterling at $4 84 while we have calculated it at $5 And with this gift of nearly four and a half millions of dollars a year to nine lines, the London papers thank a proposition to imitate the policy in this country "belongs to the darkest age of economic ignorance"

DON'T GO TO CHICAGO.—The Relief Committee in Chicago have published the following card for the benefit of mechanics throughout the country

Mechanics and laborers in various parts of the country are making a great mistake in coming to this city in search of work The supply of labor is far in excess of the demand and will be for two months to come What building is going on is done slowly and depends on the weather, which is too severe for out-door work, while the real estate activity in rebuilding will be delayed till spring Workingmen not understanding this are pouring in from all quarters spending their last dollar to get here, and appealing to the Relief Committee to aid them when they find there is no work to do Those journals which are urging these people to come here at this season are unintentionally doing them a cruel wrong and adding to a city already overburdened with the destitute

The large clock at the English Parliament House is the largest one in the world The four dials of this clock are twenty two feet in diameter Every half minute the point of the minute hand moves nearly seven inches The clock will go eight and a half days, but it only strikes for seven and a half, thus indicating any neglect in winding it up The mere winding up of the striking mechanism takes two hours The pendulum is fifteen feet long the wheels are of cast-iron, the hour bell is eight feet high and nine feet in diameter weighing nearly fifteen tons and the hammer alone weighs more than 400 pounds This clock strikes the quarter hours, and by its strokes the short-hand reporters in the Parliament chambers regulate their labors At every stroke a new reporter takes the place of the old one, while the first retires to write out the notes he has taken during the previous fifteen minutes

A company has been formed in St Louis for iron ship building, with a capital of $2,000,000 with the privilege of an increase of $10,000,000, the object being to build docks and wharves, ships, steamboats, barges, and other water crafts

What Spring Brings With It.

Regarded from a medical stand point Spring is not the delectable season described by vernal poets On the contrary its yield of intermittent fevers, bilious attacks rheumatic pains disorders of the stomach nervous complaints, and pulmonary diseases is almost as large as its crop of violets snow drops and cherry blossoms. This invisible seeds of innumerable maladies rise with the morning mists and are sent broadcast by the vapors of night. Who can resist their nephitic influence! Certainly not the weak by nature or those whose nervous energies have been overtasked by mental or physical labor unless they tone and invigorate their systems, and it is possible them to cope with the unhealthy influences by which they are surrounded

The only medicinal agent by which this object can be rapidly and safely accomplished is the great vegetable renovant and invigorant Hostetter's Stomach Bitters The operation of this celebrated specific is four fold It strengthens the digestive organs regulates the secretions improves the condition of the blood superinduces a regular habit of body and thereby imparts such vigor and elasticity to the whole physical structure as to render it capable of resisting the action of the poisonous miasma with which the spring atmosphere is always to some extent impregnated Here, then, is a ready and certain means of escaping the disorders prevalent at this season or (if they have already fastened upon the system) of conquering them speedily and thoroughly The flavor of a med cine is not of much consequence provided it does its work properly but of Hostetter's Bitters it may be fairly said that they effect a cure without offending the patient's sense of taste

The Golden Side

There are two sides to the world so they say
If we would but a opt to take
And many a stone from the hotter land
I ve gathered well part would make
The sunny side but is full fair to be
And whose beautiful trust never fades
The grass is green and the flowers are bright
Though the wintery storm prevailed

But we hope through the cloud lasting now
And keep best eyes fixed
For the sweet blue sky will still peep through,
When the ominous clouds are rifted
There was never a day, in the annals of day
Or an evening went out a morning
And never darkest hour so the proverb goes
Is the hour before the dawning

There are many a gem in the path of life
Which we pass out side pleasures
That is richer far than the jeweled ore
Of the miser's hoarded treasure
It may be the love of a little child
Or a mother's prayer in heaven
Or only a mother's grateful thanks
For a cup of water given

Better to waste in the web of life
A bright and golden thing,
And do God's work with a ready heart
And hands that are prompt and willing
Than to snap by delicate minute threads
Of our curious hearts asunder
And then blame heaven for the tangled ends
And sit and grieve and wonder

That Terrible Comet

A DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF HOW IT IS GOING TO WORK—OLD MOTHER EARTH TO BE OMELETTE FOR A HOT PLACE

From the New York Times

A few weeks since a Swiss newspaper informed its readers that M Plantamour an astronomer of extraordinary skill, had predicted the arrival next August, of a comet which would come into collision with the earth It is understood that this story has produced considerable uneasiness in Europe among the unscientific and credulous people who put faith in their newspapers and unless the fictitious character of both M Plantamour and his comet should be established there are multitudes who will watch easily for the coming of the fiery stranger

Years ago the dread of a cometary collision was quite common The comet was then supposed to be a wholly independent body, which in utter scorn of the planetary time table ran its erratic course heedless of the safety of itself and of the planets Since then we have learned that the comets of our solar system are as regular in their haints as our oldest and staidest planets and that they are, for the most part constituted of such tenuous vapor that a collision between the largest of them and the earth would be imperceptible except in the form of a slight increase in the haziness of the atmosphere. It is true that a degree of irregularity is sometimes shown by these bodies as in the case of the susceptible comet which was deflected in its route by the fascinatures of the moons of Jupiter—still it was considered that this particular comet intended no violence, but, like a very young man who meets a bevy of pretty boarding school girls taking the air together, was induced to pause in admiration until the seductive moons were led away by their matronly planets

The comet of M Plantamour is not however, one of the tamed, domesticated, and eminently respectable comets of our system but a wild and dangerous wanderer from the interstellar wilderness Of its constitution, whether gaseous or solid, it is yet impossible to judge but we are assured that it is of enormous size and is moving directly toward the earth Should it consist of burning hydrogen, it would hardly fail to add very appreciably to the heat of August, while, if it is a solid body, it will undoubtedly smash the earth to pieces, and convert it into scores of small meteoric bodies

The Bourbon Ointment.

A London letter of a recent date has the following relative to the Bourbon claimant of the French throne

When Count Chambord, self styled King of France passed a day of last month at Antwerp, he had a reception lasting four hours to a miscellaneous procession of Legitimists The whole Right and Right Center went boldly from Paris to Antwerp for the occasion, and numerous deputations from the north of France and Orleans The ladies of Lille sent an embroidered white banner, in the name of 400 of their male relations A correspondent of the London Times had a conversation with Chambord at Antwerp The Count's answers to his questions were rather enigmatical. He said, if on the throne he would not abolish universal suffrage but diminish it, changing that in his use of the word "abolish," in his own meaning, he meant no menace to the liberal institutions of France, but the reform of what he considered evil "My wish of the entire nation and not monarch of a privileged class I have always received with equal pleasure, workman, merchant laborer and gentleman I would not withdraw from the nation any prerogative which it has won, literally of consolence or of usages I may never be crowned King but I am a descendant of St Louis, and I desire neither to recall that fact nor to forget it on any I changing, that in his use of the word "abolish," in his own meaning, he meant no menace to the liberal institutions of France, but the reform of what he considered evil "My wish is the entire nation and not monarch of a privileged class I have always received with equal pleasure, workman, merchant laborer and gentleman I would not withdraw from the nation any prerogative which it has won, literally of consolence or of usages I may never be crowned King but I am a descendant of St Louis, and I desire neither to recall that fact nor to forget it on any I convey to France, monsieur that your first care would be to restore the Pope to his temporal power and to do for the Vatican what your ancestor St Louis did for the Holy tomb." "The Holy Father," replied the Prince solemnly "himself gives no example of subjugation to the decrees of Providence. His position is very difficult and yet he does not complain He knows that he must rely on One who is more powerful than the kings of the earth"

The steamship Oriflamme cleared this afternoon for San Francisco A copy of her outward cargo is given below

The bark Almatis cleared this afternoon for San Francisco She will be towed down to-morrow

The bark Rival, for San Francisco, will complete cargo of Wheat at Oneonta by Friday and go to sea on Sat day March 30th.

The steamship Ajax left San Francisco to-day bound up. She is due Saturday next.

The river is the volume of business is very marked Everybody was as busily employed to-day as possible in every branch of business. There is nothing shown more the growing commercial prosperity of a city than when stores, confined to one branch of business as Boots and Shoes, Oils and Paints, etc.—are doing a prosperous and increasing business. Our interior merchants begin to recognise the importance of pricing goods at the different stores before purchasing In this way our business houses can show to better advantage and many who have adopted this method of purchasing say they can do better in this market than in San Francisco and this is evidently the great cause of the increase in business over former years

We give below a corrected price list of Oregon Woolen goods; It shows a marked increase in prices

The following dispatch was received by Mr Weidler to-day which explains itself

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25

GEO W WEIDLER—The Pacific sails Wednesday evening for Portland carrying freight only

HOLLADAY & BRENHAM

The activity in the Coal market in San Francisco for the past year causing prices to advance, which at this writing from all reports received indicates a permanency should call renewed attention to our Coal mines The rapid increase in manufactures on this coast which is only beginning to attract the attention of capitalists has caused this increased demand owing to the large consumption of Coal particularly in California where there is a lack of water power That the consumption of this article will still continue to increase must be apparent to all, and consequently high prices must rule. The Coal mines at Mount Diablo have proven to the new owners a source of profit from the time they first commenced active operations, last year Why cannot the Coal mines known to be located on this State and also on the Washington Territory side of the Columbia river be on the mouth of the Willamette be advantageously worked? At the store of Messrs. Howett, Flowerdew & Co is to be seen a sample lot (21 sacks) of Coal from some place down the Columbia So far as we could see it bears a close resemblance to the celebrated Cannel Coal of England. There is a mine near Oregon City we think the Coal extracted being of a superior quality and for general gas we should think from a close examination would be of the best, and would command in the San Francisco market at least $12 50@14 per ton The cost of mining the Coal and bringing it to market should be light The Seattle Coal sold in San Francisco at $16@11 per ton leaves a handsome profit to the stockholders From the San Francisco Bulletin of March 9th we extract the following from the commercial Department

An exhibition of our receipts and exports of Coal for the year and since last January

	Tons
Receipts from Coos Bay	115
" " Australia and W T	93
" " Atlantic States	304
Total domestic	512	512
From Australia	240	240
From British Columbia	12 640	12 640
From Europe	31 528	31 528
From South America	210	210
Total foreign	134 68	134 68
Additions	1 6	1 6
Total	311 453	311 453

The total shows a decrease of 11 000 tons As there is an unusual quality on hand it is safe to presume that the receipts will be about 300 000 tons We shall need less than that quantity for the current year The coal trade of the Pacific coast is now a permanent thing and larger than any one year The coal fields of Oregon and Washington Territory are not only sufficient to supply the demand of the Pacific coast but will be required to meet the increasing demand of Australia and China Vancouver Island is now only at rates but west wind not be required from Australia Imports for the year are approximated 400 000 tons

The following summary neglected to be given in that the increasing consumption will probably equal the amount consumed this month to at least 20 000 tons more than last year By glancing at the statistics of San Francisco it will be seen that they are increasing Mines can reasonably be opened on the coast which will produce coal at city prices Hence that they are not required to be kept in operation for the want of a market

PAINTS—New York dates to March 9th gives another advance in Linseed Cylinders are firm in exacting 80@85c per gallon in casks There has also been an upward movement in England Crude pecan is in active demand in New York The stock is lighter than it has been for six years Refined Sperm is firmer with holders asking an advance of from 5½ to 6c per gallon

PAINTS—Western only are state that Zinc is in tighter supply than ever before Lead is with no Orange Mineral in market either in dry or second hands, and may be quoted nominally 12c gold. Venetian Red is also very scarce and as high as no currency has been paid Ochre Clay continues scarce and $30 currency has been paid for small parcels on the spot

GLASS—Window glass the schedule of prices Last Since that schedule went into effect another advance has been established in Europe of 10 per which will cause a corresponding advance East and in here The makers of bottles and window glass at a meeting held in Philadelphia, advanced the price of bottles from 70 to 75 per cent discount.

IRON—Pittsburgh manufacturers refuse further orders for Pig for forward delivery even at an advance. European advices continue to give an advancing market

HARDWARE We suggest to our readers in formed of all the changes occurring East but they will find it impossible for the want of space The New York Shipping List of March 9th says The excitement in American Hardware continues and several changes have again been made in addition to the largest number noticed in our last two reviews Now discount is continue to be bolstered every day, and those of a few days ago are already undergoing revision Our market continues to advance in sympathy with advances in Europe, East and San Francisco and from the late advances in Iron with prices still tending up, the end is not yet.
